

How do I find parts for my bike?

Firstly, hover over the 'Rieju Models' tab, select the Model of your bike from the drop-down menu that appears.

Second, identify the specific model of your bike, i.e. 125cc, Pro SM etc.

Third, select the bike from the list which is the same Year and Colour (where applicable), as your bike, and check that your Exact Bike is displayed in the image.

How do I know which year my bike is?

Your frame number is the most accurate way of confirming the year of your bike, as in some rare cases your bike may have been registered in a different year to when it was manufactured, however, Referring to your ownership papers (V5) will confirm the correct details such as colour, CC and frame number. Follow the steps shown below to find and confirm the correct frame number for your bike so it can be used in the VIN number search bar located at the top of the website.

It is imperative that the year of the bike is correctly identified, if you are still unsure after following these steps as to the year of the bike then please contact us. We also always recommend that you include the frame number of the bike in order notes so we can verify the correct part has been ordered.

Finding your frame number (VIN)

Step 1:

Find your Frame number, also known as the chassis number or VIN. This can be found either in the logbook (V5) for the bike or on the right-hand side of the headstock.

Step 2:

Make note of the twelfth character in the frame number, which is Y in the example below:

VTPRSE00D00Y00001

Step 3:

Locate the character in the table below, and the corresponding year is the year of production for that bike. *The system repeats every 30 years. For example, if your VIN shows C but you only brought your bike a few years ago it was produced in 2012 not 1982.
